THE BEST MAGAZINE.

The Eclectic Mag izine of Foreign Literature,
In literary merit and sterling worth, is without
I question the best Magazine published. It is such, because it comprises, in moderate compass and convenient form, the excellences—the choicest articles—
the cream, so to speak, of all the leading Foreign Quarterlies and Magazines, and the productions of their most gifted pens. In this respect, the Ecicetic has a decided advantage over all other Magazines.
Omitting articles of mere local interest and minor importance to the American reader, its pages offer to its patrons a large amount of literary wealth, of permanent value, at a small price.

The above work is a delineation of the scenes and incidents connected with the imprisonment, in 1852 of Manuel Pereira, steward of the British brig Jan son, in the jail of Charleston, S. C.

The following notice of this work is copied from the National Era of February 17:

"The above is the title of a work now in press founded upon that infamous statute of South Carolina by which her citizons claim a right to imprison colored scanen, of all nations, and even those cast upon their shores in distress. We have perused the book in advance of its publication, and find that it gives a life-like picture of Pereira, the vessel in which he sailed the storms she encountered, and her wrecked condition when brought into the port of Charleston, S. C.; to gether with the imprisonment of Pereira, several sea men belonging to the New England States, and two Prench seamen: the prison regimen, character of the Charleston police, and the mendacity of certain officials, who make the law a medium of peculation. The work is replete with incidents of Southern life and character, pointing Southerners to the things that call for correction at their own hands, with a force that cannot be mistaken. The work is written by one who has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the South, and cannot fail to interest alike the general reader commercial man, and philanthropist."

By Jacob Abbott.

"Rollo on the Atlantic" is the first book of a series to be published under the general title of Rollo's ries to be published under the general title of Rollo's Four in Europe.

Extract from the Preface:

"The brocks are intended to be books of instruction, rather than of mere annusement; and, in perusing them, the reader may feel assured that all the information which they contain, not only in respect to the countries visited, and to the customs, usages, and modes of life that are described, but also in regard to the general character of the incidents and adventures that the young travellers meet with, is in most strict accordance with fact. The main design of the narrative is thus the communication of useful knowledge; and everything which they contain, except what is strictly personal, in relation to the actors in the story, may be depended upon as exactly and scrupulously true."

for private reading. By Charles D. Cleveland.

From George B. Emerson, Esq., of Bost "I have examined your 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Century,' and I like it exceedingly It is extremely well and fairly done. The biographical notices are just and discriminating; and, while they are long enough to gratify the curiosity we have to know something of an author, they are so spirited as to swaken a desire to know more. The selections are admirable. I have adopted the work as a text book for my first class, every individual of which is now preparing, under its guidance, to give a faller account of the writings of some one chosen author."

Fram Rev. R. P. Andelatt, D. D. of Cincinnati. From Rev. B. P. Aydelott, D. D., of Cincinnati

Prom Rev. B. P. Aydelatt, D. D., of Cincinnati.

"I have examined with much care, and still greater pleasure, and, I trust, not a little profit, your English Literature of the Nineteenth Century."

It is, I believe, the richest collection of gems in our language. There is nothing in it I would omit, and yet it is not too large for popular use. Considering the very brief timits to which you were obliged to confine yourself, I am surprised at the fullness and richness of your biographical details. Your most difficult and delicate task, however, was the critical judgment to be passed uptn each author; and here I think you have been very happy—discriminating and just, and yet kind.

But I would feel that whatever I have said about the volume, however true, ought to be considered as of little worth, could I not add—as I cheerfully do—a stro g testimony to its high moral tone and eminently Christian spirit. The general reader cannot fail to be interested, the student profited, the scholar delighted, and the man of picty pleased, with your 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Century.'

REFORMATORY PAPER FOR CHILDREN.

THE JUVENILE INSTRUCTOR.

THE JUVENILE INSTRUCTOR.

Edited by Uncle Lucius, Syracuse, N. Y.

The want of a paper for children, of a reformatory character, has long been felt. The juvenile papers of our land do not meet the demands of the community. They please the eye and interest the reader, but do not instruct and enlighten the mind with reference to the great sins of the day. Reformers! The Juvenile Instructor is intended to meet this demand. It is the paper for children—for Sabbath schools and Day schools.

The Instructor is published every other week, or twenty-six numbers per year. A new volume commences January 5, 1854. A Corresponding Editor has been secured. Her writings for children are already known and admired by many. Hlustrations will be given in every number. No reasonable expense will be spared to make it attractive. PROSPECTUS OF THE PROHIBITIONIST.

"If any State deems the retail and internal traffic in ardent spirite injurious to its citizens, and calculated to produce idleness, vice, or debauchery, I see nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent it from regulating or restraining the traffic, or from prohibiting it altogether, if it thinks proper."

Chief Justice Toney.

Temperance Journal, under the traction of the state of th

150 pages.

Its Object.—To advocate the Cause of Temperance generally, and especially the Legislative Prohibition of the Traffic in Intoxicating Beverages, to proper the minds of the masses for such Prohibition, by showing its expediency and Necessity, and to secure, by all the influence it may legitimately exert, the vigorous enforcement of Prohibitory Laws when obtained.

ITS FIELD.—Dealing with general principles, with arguments alike applicable to every community where the traffic exists and with facts illustrative of these arguments alke applicable to every commined where the traffic exists and with facts illustrative of these arguments and principles, the paper will be National in its spirit, in its scope, in its purpose, and, we trust, it will be National in its circulation and influence. Such is our aim and expectation. We desire to see the Principle of Prohibition established in State after State, till it becomes the recognised policy of the Nation. It is our ambition to bear a part in this great work, and to this end The Prohibition strict is established, not as the organ of a society merely, but of a Great Reformatory Movement.

Its Necrestry.—The existing Temperance Journals have little, if any, circulation outside of the Temperance Ranks. Their price almost necessarily restricts them to the friends of the cause. THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW CHORAL ADVOCATE

CHORAL ADVOCATE

Is the cheapest and best Musical Paper in the world. This Journal, which has heretofore been published monthly, commences its fifth year in January next, and thenceforward it will be published every two weeks—on every other Thursday; thereby giving more than twice as much matter, without any increase in price. Each number contains sixteen quarto pages, four of which are new music, consisting of glees, hymn tunes, chants, anthems, dediction and holyday pieces, and, in short, every variety of music adapted to purposes of religious worship, to public occasions, and to the home circle; all of which will be of a practical character, and such as can be sung by persons of ordinary musical attainments. In the editorial department of the Review are engaged (in addition to Mr. Cady, the former editor) gentlemen of the highest talent and ripest musical experience, among whom are George F. Root, William B. Bradbury, Thomas Hastings, and Lowell Mason; and its circle of correspondence, home and foreign, is complete. The Review will also be a regular modium for the announcement of new musical publications by all the leading publishing houses in the Union. The subscription list of this paper is now larger than that of any similar journal in the world,

Union. The subscription list of this paper is now larger than that of any similar journal in the world, and the new arrangements, rendering it the cheapest as well as (it is hoped) the most valuable musical paper ever published, must largely increase its already unparalleled circulation.

Terms.—One dollar per annum, or six copies for five dollars, always in advance.

THE GERAT AMERICAN TEMPERANCE TALE

THE WEAL AND WOE OF SOCIAL LIFE. One Volume 12mo, $1.

THE object of this tale is to exhibit in different phases, in high life and low life, the accursed effects of intemperate drinking, the bane of social life, the curse of civilized man. The characters are well and sharply drawn, and the various scenes are described with much spirit and graphic effect. * * We are disposed to regard the book as the best of its kind that has yet appeared.—Boston Traveller. It is not often that we read a story of any kind,

It is not often that we read a story of any kind, but we have broken our practice, and have read this book not only with pleasure, but with a gratification which but very few novels have ever afforded us. It is a quiet and simple, but still striking and offective picture of American social life.—Chicago Tribune. Written with marked ability .- Zanesville Courier.

A thrilling picture of the effects of that informal and of social life, intemperance.—Richmond Pal-The style is attractive and fascinating; there is a freshness and originality about it, that is very pleasing. * * * One of its shiof merits is the excel-

ing. * * * One of its chief merits is the excellence of its conversations.—Enquirer.

Has so many thrilling passages and well-drawn characters, that you read it with absorbed attention. It cannot fail to achieve for Mrs. Collins an enviable popularity. She takes us with her to the drunkard's home, and tells of the hunger and the fear, the toil and the suffering, that are there. She paints, with a woman's delicate skill, the meek pationee, the long-abused, but unchanging love of the drunkard's wife, touches the deepest chords of the heart, and makes them vibrate with pity and with indignation. Christian Herold.

Though Mrs. Collins has already hosts of admirers of her literary productions, this work, we predict, will increase that number ten fold, and give her a reputation worthy of her high talents.—Neve Athany Tribune.

The style is easy, natural, benutiful, chaste, and at times very eloquent. We would commend it especially to young ladies, that they may see to what dangers they are exposed, in forming alliances with the fashionable in high life.—Ohio Organ.

A deeply interesting and powerful work. It vividly portrays some of the terrific exploits of strong drink in both high and low life. Nor are such scenes as it depicts either imaginary or few. Let this book circulate. It has a beneficent aim, and is the vehicle of admirably old and most salulary lessons.—Presbyterian.

* * Has sketched it in its daintiest form of

* * Has sketched it in its daintiest form of fascination, as well as in its grim and dismal aspect of open degradation. Rarely has a woman ventured to hold the torch to such a dark recess of human woc.—Daily Times.

We know of no passage, anywhere, more uniquely beautiful, more intensely absorbing, more overpowering in the pathetic, than the thirty-fourth chapter. It is indeed a gem. We doubt whether the celebrated chapter devoted to the death of Eva, in Uncle Tom's Cabin, is superior. * * It is certainly the most powerful temperance tale that we have ever perused.—Journal and Messenger.

Beautifully written. * * * A work of great strength and power.—Gospet Heradd.

Graphic, truthful, chaste, and deeply affecting, the story winds itself into our feelings, and we become absorbed in the plot, as if we behold before our own eyes the realities of the author's definentions.— Date

FUBLISHERIS' ANNOUNCEMENT:
ELEVENTH VOLUME OF

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST THE LEADING

Weekly Agricultural Paper of the Country.

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST, a weekly Periodical of sixteen large quarto pages, making an anuual volume of 832 pages of nearly double the size of those in the first ten volumes of the Agriculturist.

It is beautifully printed with type east expressly for it, and on the best of clear white paper, with wide margin, so that the numbers can be easily stitched or bound together.

A copious Index is weekly added, which will be fully amplified at the end of the year, for the bound work.

fully amplified at the end of the year, for the bound work.

Comprehensive in its Character,
Each volume will contain all matter worth recording, which transpires either at home or ahroad, and which can serve to instruct or interest the Farmer, the Planter, the Fruit-Grower, the Gardener, and the Stock Breeder; thus making it the most complete and useful Agricultural Publication of the day.

Correct and valuable Market Reports.
The Markets will be carefully reported, giving the actual transactions which take place from week to week, in Grain, Provisions, Cattle, &c.; thus keeping our readers constantly and reliably advised as to their interests. During the past year, the knowledge obtained from these Market Reports alone has saved our readers thousands of dollars, by informing them of the best time to sell or purchase.

Such a Paper is demanded by the Farming our readers thousands of dollars, by informing them of the best time to sell or purchase.

Suck a Paper is demanded by the Farming Community.

The publishers confidently believe that the agriculturists of this country are becoming too much awake to the demands of their own calling to be longer satisfied with the slow monthly issues of a paper professedly devoted to their interests, or to trust alone to the irresponsible extracts in a "farmer's column," so popular just now in papers chiefly devoted to business, politics, or literature; and they look for the united support of all the intelligent farmers of this country in their continued effort to farnish a weekly paper of a high and reliable character, which shall be progressive, and at the sance time cautious and conservative in all its teachings.

Essentially an Agricultural Paper.

The Agriculturist will not depart from its legitimate sphere to eatch popular favor by lumbering up its pages, with the silly, fictitious literature, and light, miscellaneous matter of the day; it has a higher aim; and a small part only of its space will be devoted to matters not immediately pertaining to the great business of Agriculture. The household as well as the out-door work of the farm will receive a due share of attention. The humbugs and nostrums aftont in the community will be tried by reliable scientific rules, and their worthlessness exposed. It is the aim of the publishers to keep this paper under the guidance of those who will make it a standard work, which shall communicate to its readers only that which is safe and reliable.

An Independent Journal.

The American Agriculturist stands upon its own merits; and the truthfulness, real, and ability, which it brings to the support of the interests of the farmer. It is untrammeled by any collateral business connections whatever, nor is it the organ of any olique, or the puffing machine of any man or thing. Thoroughly independent in all points, its ample pages are studiously given alone to the support and improvement of th
